- The brief included a total facelift and modernisation to this 1969 monopitch design bungalow, by extension and alteration including timber boarding with traditional beading to produce a colonial new England style house. We found Tim Drayton a good team leader. Nothing too much trouble a ready attitude to seize any issue and resolve it.

TJD actively facilitated changes to design, making own suggestions. Before accepting the tender price, I dealt with all the tradesmen on site and found myself able to develop a good rapport with all. The clarity of the accounts was notable, the office staff helpful and, most importantly, the boss himself always readily accessible.

- TJD Building Contractors Ltd are an exceptionally well-run, organized and efficient company. They are large enough to undertake projects such as ours with ease, yet small enough to retain a strong sense of camaraderie and team-spirit among the staff. Everyone was friendly, highly skilled and appeared to take genuine pride in their work. The director, Tim Drayton, is blessed with exemplary man-management skills, applying them to both his staff and clients alike. Under his leadership, the whole operation ran like clock-work, even the one or two inevitable mishaps did not disrupt the project and a compromise was always reached. We were very nervous before the start of our building project, yet after hiring TJD I now wonder what all the fuss was about. TJD are exactly the sort of builder you pray you'll get. They can restore any lost faith in the building profession and are raising the standards of service and finishing throughout cambridgeshire.

Mr & Mrs Graham, Landbeach
